

River Junction Access & Campground

6051 River Jct. Rd SE
Lone Tree, IA 52755

Overview: River Junction is a 12-acre property located along the Iowa River in the southern part of the county. This property features a primitive campground and boat ramp. River Junction is bordered by the Iowa River to the west. Just a few hundred feet south of the park, the English River flows into the Iowa, and the confluence serves as the park's namesake. Mature trees provide shaded relief and make this area a peaceful oasis for campers and anglers alike. River Junction Access & Campground is along the Iowa River Water Trail. The Johnson County segment of the Iowa River Water Trail starts at Sturgis Ferry Park in Iowa City and ends at the Tri-County Bridge at the southern corner of the county. Paddlers can enjoy a 9.8-mile distance from Hills Access to River Junction Access.

History: Johnson County Conservation acquired this property in 1971.

Features: Facilities on the site include the boat ramp, picnic tables, four primitive campsites and a latrine.

The camping fee is $10 per unit per night for each of the 4 campsites with fire rings. No more than one camping party or camping unit shall occupy a campsite. An additional tent may be used for children under eighteen years old. These sites are all first come first serve "Instant Pay" with a QR code. Instructions available onsite.
